L'oeuvre

Opening Tune est une oeuvre brillante et festive que Jean-François Michel a spécialement conçue en levée de concert de brass band.

La dramatisation commence dès la première mesure du moderato initial avec les percussions qui créent l'atmosphère sur une longue tenue pianissimo des basses. Suivent de brèves interventions des cuivres et quelques sonneries des cornets tutti lancées depuis les coulisses, un peu comme les signes avant-coureurs d'un orage musical. Tous les pupitres des cuivres et percussions vont alors s'allier pour faire déferler rythmes, chants et contrechants jusqu'à l'Allegro central qui passe en conclusion à une variation solennelle du tempo primo. Le public est attentif à la suite du programme...

The work

Opening Tune is a new brilliant and festive work by Jean-François Michel, and it was specifically conceived as a brass band concert starter.

The dramatic effects commence with the very first measure of the initial moderato, when the percussion instruments create the atmosphere over underlying long and low pianissimo notes emanating from the basses. Short tutti brass interventions then follow, along with some tutti cornet calls sounding from backstage, which serve as harbingers of an imminent musical storm. All the brass and percussion then form an alliance to unleash rhythms, songs and counterpoints leading to the sounding of the central Allegro, which merges back to a final and solemn variation of the tempo primo. The audience is now ready to enjoy the concert...

Das Werk

Opening Tune ist eine brillante und festliche Ouvertüre, die Jean-François Michel eigens zur Eröffnung eines Brass Band Konzertes komponierte.

Die Dramaturgie startet mit den ersten Takten des Eingangsmoderatos, wo das Schlagzeug langen, tiefen pianissimo Akzente der Bässe für Stimmung sorgt. Darauf folgen kurze Blechbläser-einsätze und aus den Kulissen heraus einige tutti Kornett-Akkorde als Vorboten eines heftigen Sturms. Sämtliche Bläser- und Schlagzeug-Familien verbünden sich dann unter Rhythmen, Arien und Gesangslodien bis zum zentralen Allegro auf, welches dann zu einer finalen Variation des Tempos primo führt. Nun ist das Publikum bereit, das weitere Programmpunkte geniessen...
